

Dear Saint James School Parents,

We hope this letter finds you refreshed, rested, and ready for the new school year.

Beginning with the first week of school, the teachers and staff of Saint James School will begin implementing a well researched behavior management program, which we believe underscores our school's mission statement. Our goal is to help students build self-discipline, respect for self and others, and social responsibility within our Christian community while establishing clear parameters of acceptable behavior.

As with other academic subjects, teachers will formally present and teach this behavior program with its rules of conduct to the students in the first few days of school. Students will then be formally assessed for their understanding. Rules will be clearly posted in the classrooms and throughout the school during the school year.

Saint James School understands and respects the important premise that parents are the first teachers of their children and that we share a special partnership with them. Therefore, we encourage you to join us in this discipline approach that fosters good conduct and a cooperative spirit within the school community by reviewing with your children the policy book which is posted on the Saint James School website, www.saintjameschool.net. Please complete and sign the bottom of this letter and return it on the first day of school.

With kindest regards, we share a thought with you from Proverbs 20:11, "The character of even a child can be known by the way he acts – whether what he does is pure and right."

Yours very truly,

The Saint James School Staff

I have read and discussed the Saint James School policy book with my child(ren).
